

Red Fox Literary LOOKBOOK

Spring 2022

Jed Alexander

Jed Alexander's first picture book Red received a starred review in Publishers Weekly. Jed's work has appeared in Cricket Magazine and SpongeBob Comics. His next picture book, Gold, a follow-up to Red, will be released in Fall 2022. He lives in Davis California with his wife and best friend in the world, Regina, and the best dog in the world, Cinderpants.

"I'm interested in doing picture books with children and books about wildlife."

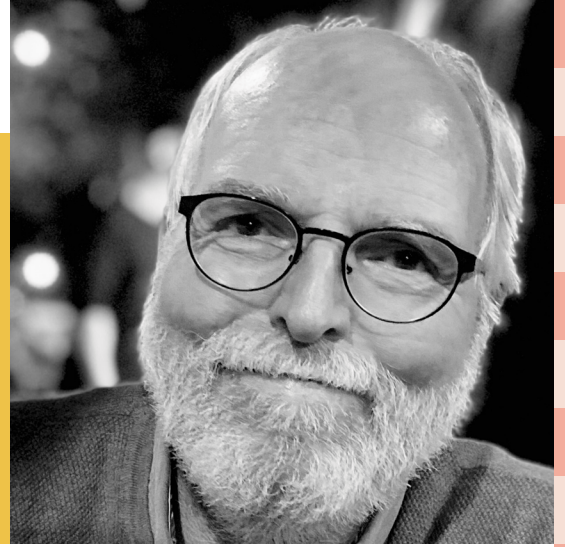

jedalexander.com

 @jed_alexander

 @Jed_Alexander

R.W. "Bob" Alley

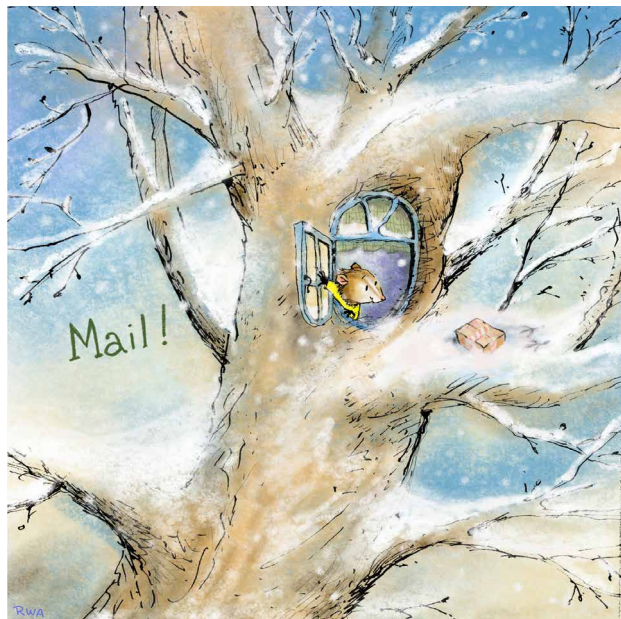

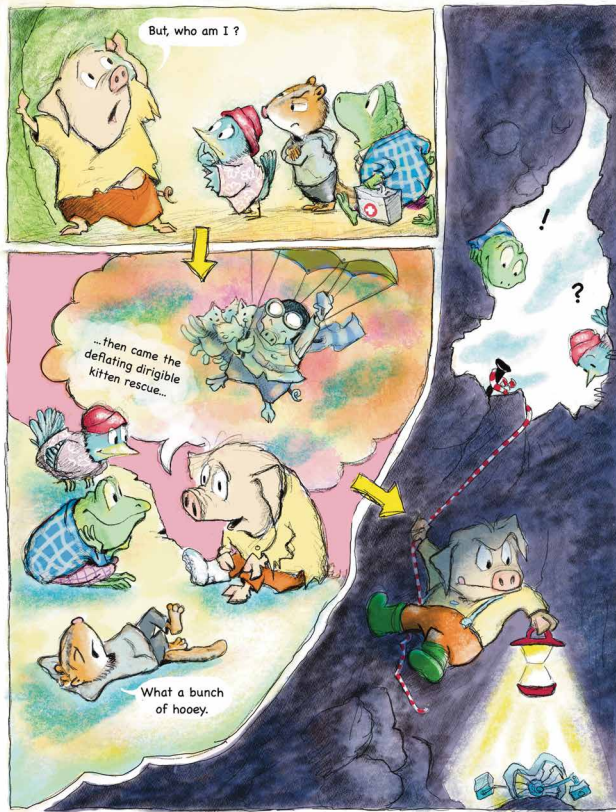

Though R. W. Alley is best known for picturing the adventures of Paddington Bear, he's also illustrated over 200 other books for children—from board books to graphic novels to middle grade. His work has received a Geisel Honor and a Washington Post Best Book award among many other kind notices and stars.

"I believe the best children's books present characters in community. Today, I'm working on just those kinds of stories: some fiction, some non-fiction, but all centered on their characters' shared experience."

rwalley.com

@rwalleyillustration

The packaging was challenging, but the directions were simple. As club president, Twyla took charge.

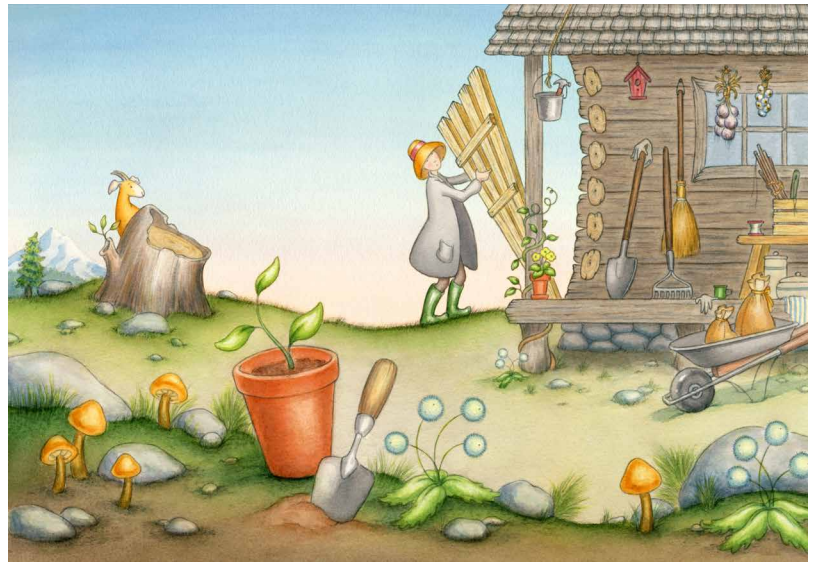

Heidi Aubrey

Heidi Aubrey lives among the trees just outside Portland, Oregon, homesteading on six acres with her husband and a Pembroke Welsh corgi named Leo. When she's not dreaming up stories, she's exploring the mountain foothills or working on woodland-restoration projects.

"I am busily at work on my debut picture book with Neal Porter Books/Holiday House. I'm particularly interested in projects that deal with themes of nature, animals, and home."

heidiaubrey.com

 @heidiaubreyart

Drew Beckmeyer

Drew Beckmeyer is the author/illustrator of the picture book The Long Island (Chronicle 2018), which was longlisted for the Klaus Flugge Prize. He has three further picture books forthcoming. His work has been featured by The New York Times, Warner Bros., ESPN, Esquire, and on the cover of New American Paintings. He also earned a Grammy nomination for album design.

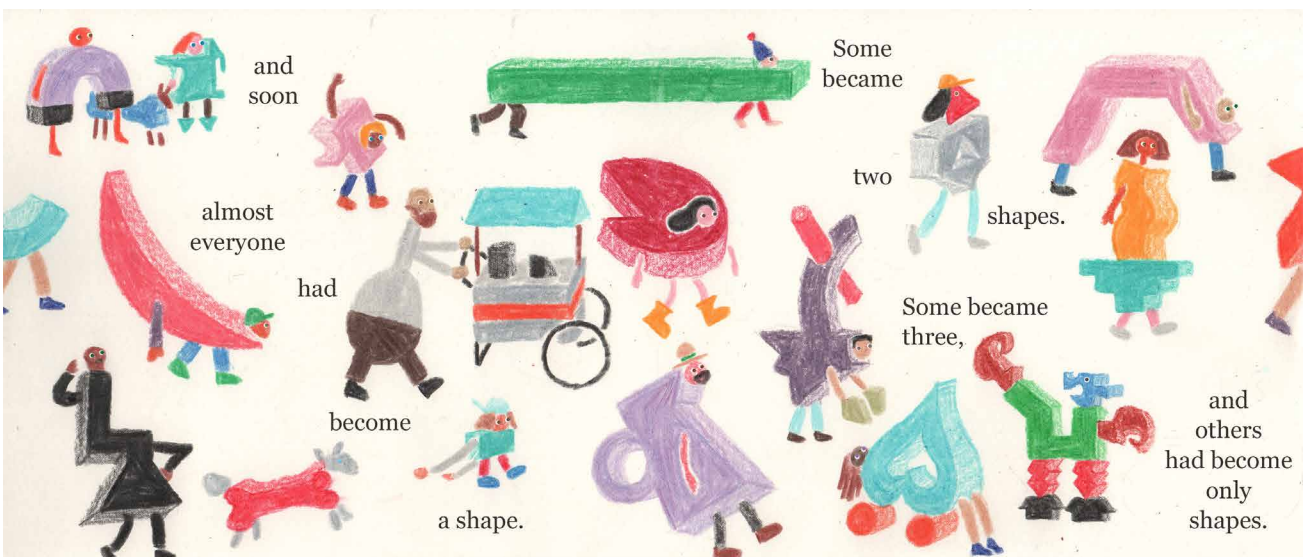

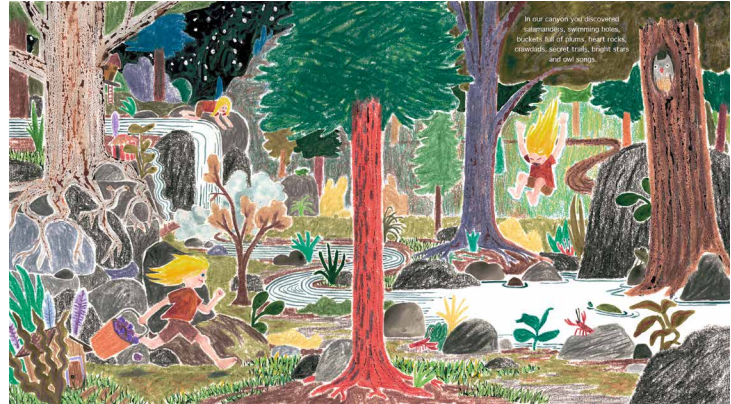

“I love stories that are thoughtfully strange, quietly funny, and accidentally profound. I’m also a sucker for anything science and nature related.”

drewbeckmeyer.com

@drewbeckmeyer

Diane Browning

Diane Browning's star-reviewed debut picture book, Signed, Abiah Rose, was chosen for the Amelia Bloomer list and was named a Booklist Top Ten Title for Youth in both the art and history categories. Her forthcoming non-fiction young adult title, The Brontes Of Haworth Moor, tells the story of the four talented Bronte siblings. Diane lives in Southern California.

“My favorite illustration projects are historical fiction or non-fiction for both picture books and mid-grade. I love the research and working to capture the look and flavor of past time periods.”

dianebrowningillustrations.com

@dianebrowning_paintbox

Russ Cox

Russ Cox was raised by a pack of crazed hillbillies in the backwoods of Tennessee. Without much in the way of modern conveniences, he spent his time drawing, whittling, and throwing dirt clods at his cousins. He started his own illustration studio, Smiling Otis Studio (named after one of their enormous cats). Russ lives in Maine with his wife and three cats.

“I am available for picture books, chapter books, middle grade, and graphic novels.”

smilingotis.com

@russex_books

@russex_illust

Meredith Crandall Brown

After ten years of teaching and holding back giggles, Meredith wanted to make children laugh on purpose and pursue her lifelong love of writing and drawing. She now happily works full-time in picture books. Her debut, Milk and Juice: A Recycling Romance (HarperCollins 2021) has been enjoyed by critics and booksellers alike, and made the Kids' Indie Next List.

"I like to work on kind, clever, humorous books that catch children's hearts and imaginations."

crandallbrown.com

@crandallbrown

Zuzana Čupová

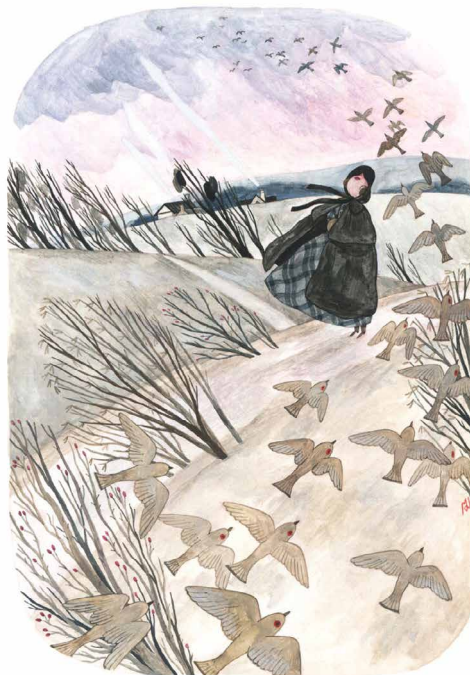

Zuzana Čupová comes from a tiny little village under the Beskid mountains in the Czech Republic where she lives with her dog Rituška. Though she's currently working in the animation industry, she loves book illustration just as much. With illustration, she enjoys using traditional ink and watercolor as a change from the digital work she does in animation.

“I’m deeply in love with classic literature and folktales but open to anything—though a spot of humor and playful language will always be appreciated!”

 s-u-w-i.tumblr.com

 @suwi.illustration

Oliver Dominguez

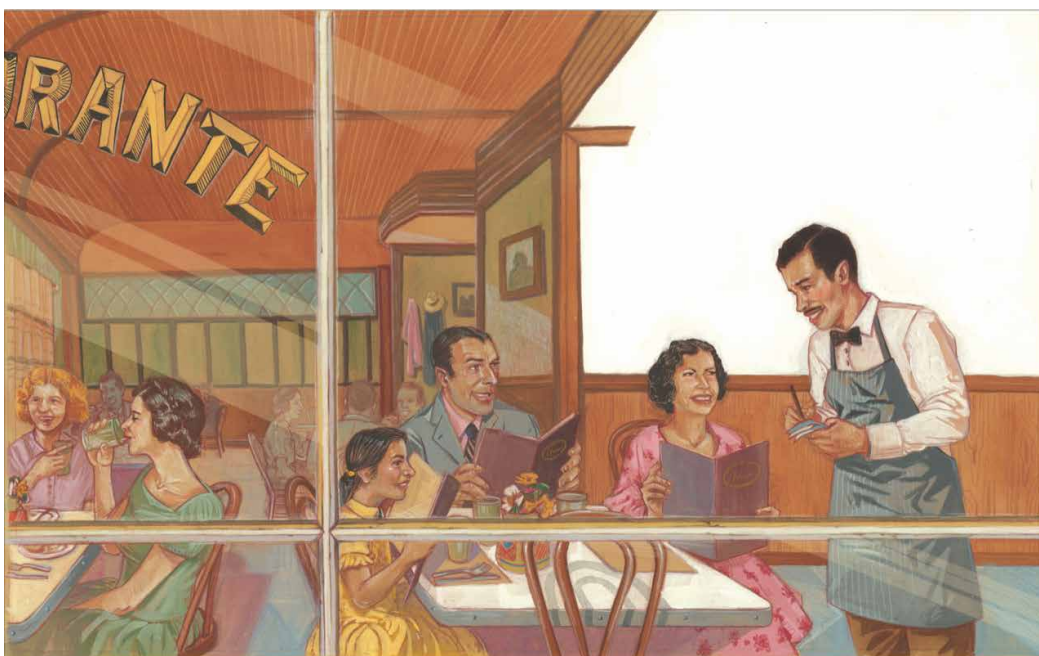

Oliver Dominguez was born and raised in the South side of Miami. His most recent picture book illustrations appear in Pope Francis: Builder of Bridges, and Nacho's Nachos, which received a starred review, Christopher Award, and NYPL "Best Book." He currently lives in Fort Myers with his family where he indulges in books, movies, and an appetite for unique hats.

"I really enjoy delving into history and its unique untold stories."

oliverdominguezart.com

@oliverdominguezart

Masha D'yans

Russian-born artist and author D'yans has had greeting card lines for Target, MOMA, and Barnes & Noble and others. Kirkus, in a starred review, called her watercolors in Polka Dot Parade “scintillating,” while Booklist said of her author-illustrated picture book about amazing microscopic fauna living in the human body A Garden In Your Belly “wildly imaginative. . . a lively introduction to a vital element in human health.”

“I’m drawn to various aspects of biology. It’s always exciting to capture new angles of nature on a book page for kids and their adults.”

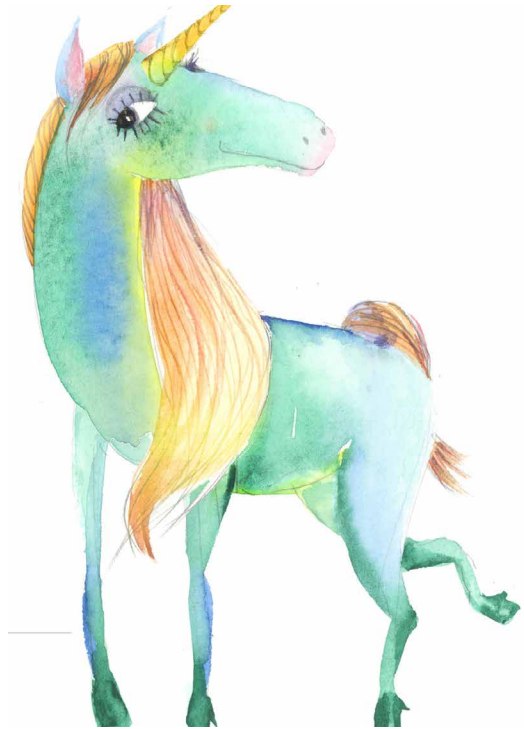

masha.com

@mashadyans

@mashadyans

Matt Faulkner

Award-winning author and illustrator Matt Faulkner has over 30 children's books to his name. His most recent author/illustrated graphic novel, Gajjin: American Prisoner Of War, won ALA's Asian/Pacific award. Matt is married to author Kristen Remenar. They co-created the picture book Groundhog's Dilemma. They live in the lower right hand corner of Michigan.

“I'd delight in working on the fantastic, the quirky, the unusual, the whimsical, the farcical, the important, the laugh-out-loud funny, and all things related to the aforementioned!”

mattfaulkner.com

@MattFaulkner1

America is for dreamers.

Emmeline Forrestal

Emmeline holds a B.A. in Theatrical Costume Design and was a theater wig maker before relocating with her family to California. After the move, she worked as a children's library technician which provided a front row seat to kids and books. Emmeline creates art digitally in ProCreate.

“I’m interested in books for all ages and genres, from picture books to YA. I am fond of creepy settings, quirky characters, and sarcastic humor. I’m also seeking out historical non-fiction and biographies.”

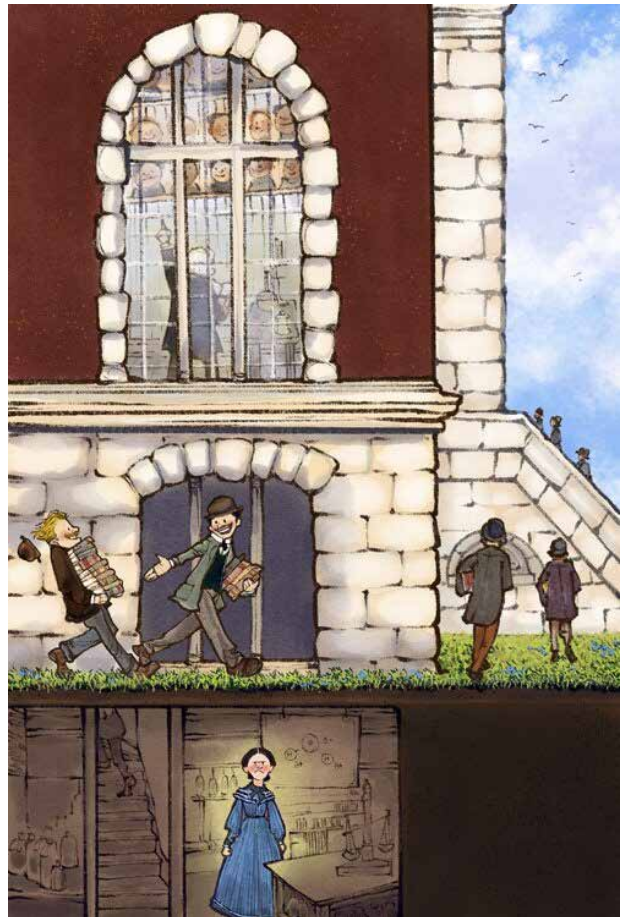

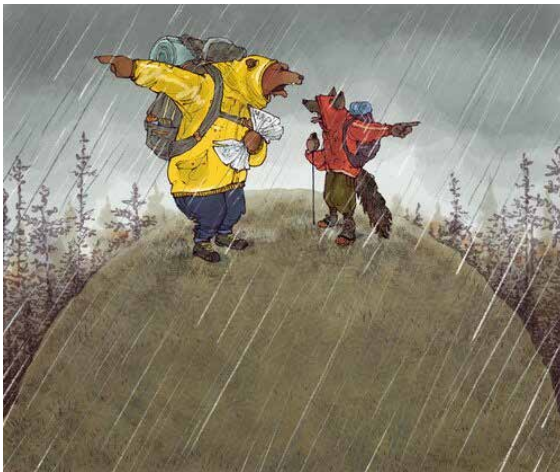

emmelineforrestal.com

@emmelineforrestal

@emforrestal

Represented by Sarah Stephens: sarah@redfoxliterary.com

Mary Ann Fraser

Mary Ann Fraser is an award-winning picture-book author/illustrator with over 70 fiction and nonfiction books for young readers including her recent picture books Let It Grow (Capstone) and her YA fiction debut Mortal Remains (Sterling Teen). Her books have been Junior Library Guild Selections, and have been awarded Book Links Book of the Year, IRA Young Readers Choice Award, and American Booksellers' "Pick of the List."

"I look for stories that delight and inform whether it be fiction or non-fiction."

maryannfraser.com

@maryafrase

@maryannfraser

Jami Gigot

Jami Gigot is the author and illustrator of several picture books. She also works in the film industry as a digital texture painter. She lives in Vancouver B.C. with her husband, two children, and a big orange cat.

“I am open to illustrating a wide range of work, but am particularly drawn to stories that are imaginative, magical and have a lot of heart. I’d also love to illustrate a fascinating biography, middle grade novel, or a story passionate about the environment and nature.”

jamigigot.com

@jamigigot

@jlgigot

Jennifer P. Goldfinger

Jennifer P. Goldfinger is a children's book author/illustrator as well as a fine artist. She lives in Portland, Maine with her husband and dog, Mabel—and sometimes two daughters when they fly home to the nest. Jennifer has published with Little, Brown, Clarion, Scholastic, and HarperCollins. Her fine art is collected internationally and she's an exhibiting artist at Rice Polak Gallery in Provincetown, MA.

"I'm interested in illustrating picture books, middle grade, and chapter books."

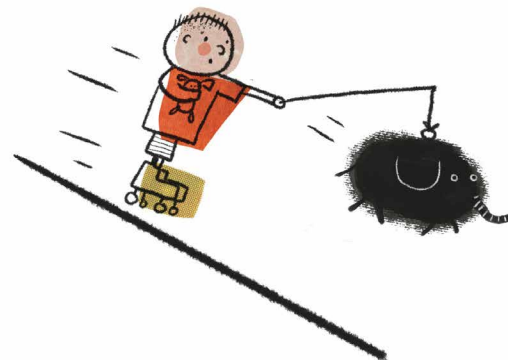

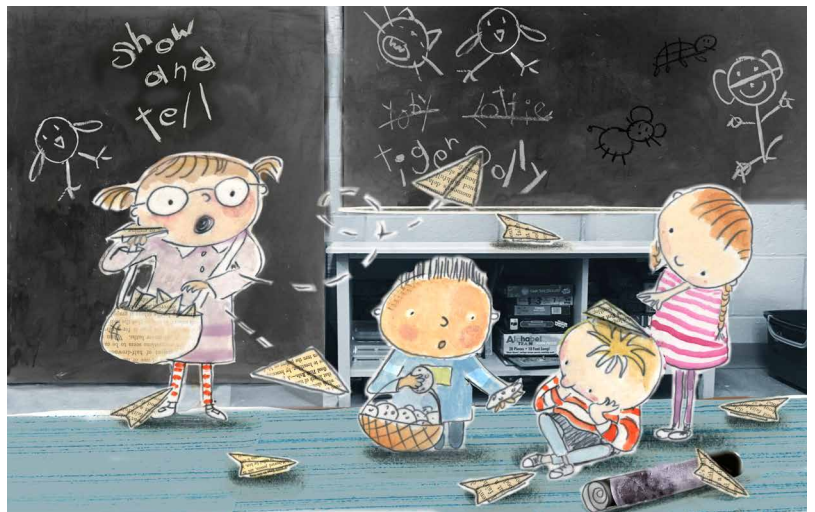

jennifergoldfingerart.com & jennifergoldfinger.com

@jengoldfinger

@jengoldfinger

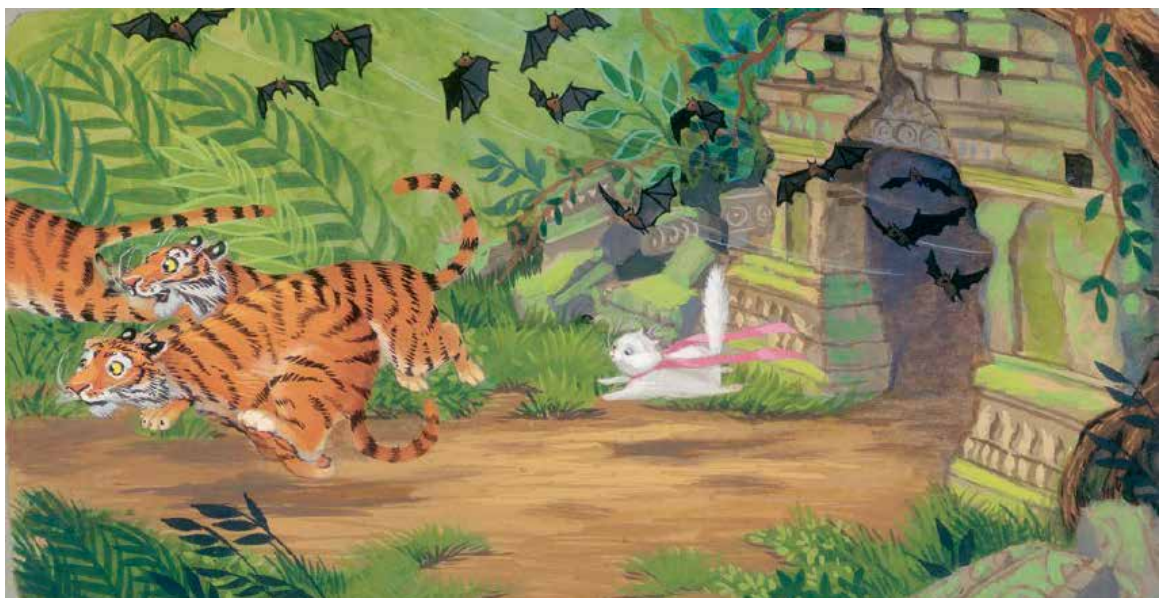

Hannah E. Harrison

Hannah E. Harrison is the author and illustrator of six award-winning picture books. School Library Journal, in a starred review of her latest picture book Bear Is Awake, called it, “[A] must-buy.” Her books have received numerous starred reviews, been chosen as Kirkus Books of the Year, Editor’s Picks on Amazon, and have been selected for book clubs. Hannah lives in Ada, Oklahoma with her husband and two daughters.

“I’m drawn to projects that feature animals and have humor and heart.”

hannaeharrison.com

Represented by Abigail Samoun: abigail@redfoxliterary.com

Erin Hourigan

Erin Hourigan is an author/illustrator based in Portland Oregon. She illustrated When Winter Comes: Discovering Wildlife in Our Snowy Woods by Aimee Bisonette and is finishing out all the seasons with them. Her author/illustrator debut In the Blue will be released this May.

“I love the ocean, the wilderness, and big feelings. I’d love to illustrate a poem or story that’s really open in how it could be illustrated, or non-fiction about the intersection of science and art.”

erinhourigan.com

@erinnicholeart

Rachel Katstaller

Rachel Katstaller is originally from El Salvador, where she studied Strategic Design. After living in New York, where she attended the SVA Summer Residency, Rachel relocated to Innsbruck, Austria together with her cat Hemingway. Rachel is the illustrator of A Portrait In Poems and Violet Velvet Mittens With Everything, and will make her authorial debut with Skater Cielo.

“My passion is giving life to book characters with strong and unique personalities and a mind of their own. My secret dream is illustrating a graphic novel for teenagers!”

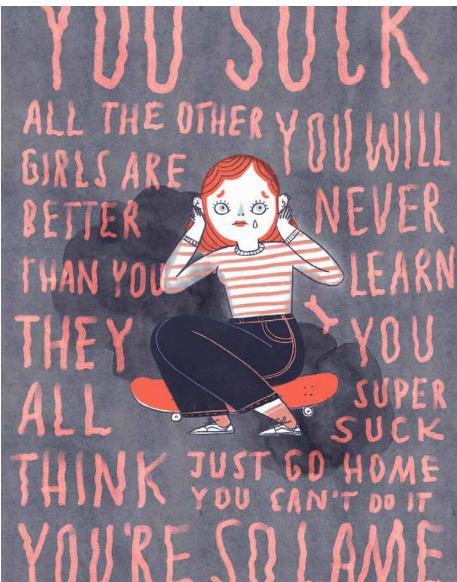

rachelkatstaller.com

@rachelkatstaller

@rachelkatkatkat

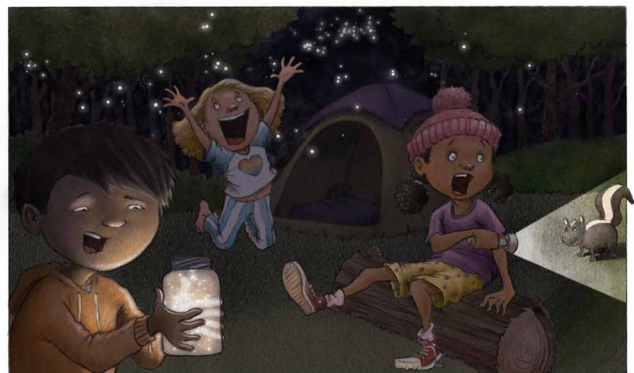

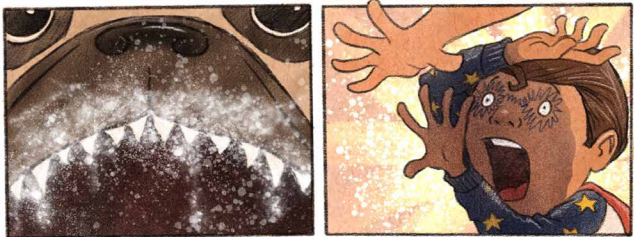

Marty Kelley

Kirkus, in a starred review, said of Kelley's picture book (Almost) Everybody Farts, "Kelley delivers the ultimate blast of gassy, honest humor with his whimsical, cheeky rhyme...But it is the color illustrations... that are utterly priceless." Marty is also the author-illustrator of the chapter book series Molly Mac and a new chapter book, Pugnapped!. Marty, a former 2nd grade teacher, visits over 150 schools per year.

"I enjoy illustrating fun, goofy picture books with lots of character interaction. I'm very interested in working on more graphic novels."

martykelley.com

 @martykelleybooks

Alison Kim

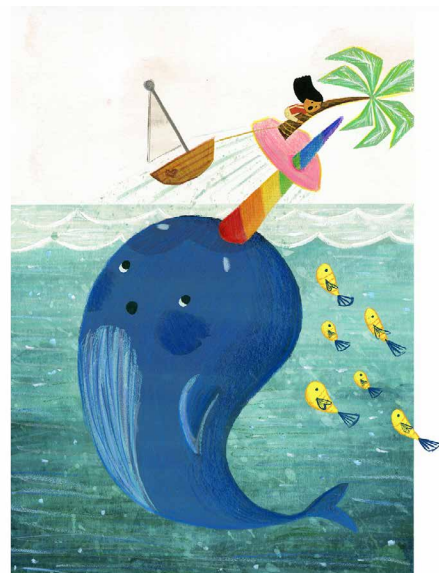

Alison Kim is an illustrator, writer, and UX designer, living in California with her sweet rescue dogs. She has been super lucky to have worked in awesome creative environments, including Pixar and Office. Alison has BA degrees in Art and English from UC Berkeley, and an MFA in Graphic Design from the Academy of Art University.

“I love to illustrate humorous stories with animals and diverse characters.”

alisonkim.com

@dogstorytime

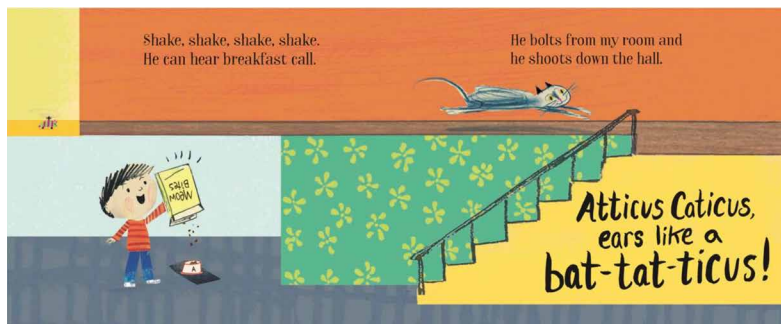

Kara Kramer

An artist and sometimes scribbler of words, Kara is the illustrator of the acclaimed Make Meatballs Sing! among several other picture books. She has a MFA from the School of Visual Arts and a BFA in illustration. Kara lives, plays, and creates in Brooklyn.

“I’m interested in picture books (both fiction and nonfiction), poetry collections, and covers for middle grade and YA. I’m ready for something new to get my hands and heart into!”

karakramer.com

 @beinginthemaking

Anne Lambelet

Anne earned a degree in illustration from the University of the Arts in Philadelphia. She has author-illustrated three picture books, Maria the Matador, Dogs and their People, and The Poisoned Apple, as well as illustrating several books by talented authors. She lives in Philadelphia with her husband Brice, her adorable dog, Eevee, and her cat, Fitzgerald.

“I love drawing almost anything, but at the end of the day, what truly matters to me is that I’m working on projects that will inspire children and spark their imaginations.”

annelambelet.com

 @annelambelet

 @AnneLambelet

HEY, NEIGHBOR

HARE SAID.

“Wanna Race?”

“Didn’t we already have a race?”
Tortoise asked.

“Yep,” said Hare. “But you won.
So how about a rematch?”

“I’m sorry, Hare,” Tortoise said.
“I have other things to do today.”

Alejandra Oviedo

Alejandra Oviedo was born in Bogota, Colombia. She studied visual arts and her work is based on drawing stories of her daily life, places, objects and people. She has always been interested in working with children. She loves how they think and understand the world. Also, she likes to draw in the sand and then erase it with her feet.

“I adore when I find myself illustrating daily life scenarios and situations, people and their emotions, animals, and plants as our companions in this spinning globe.”

alejandraoviedo.com

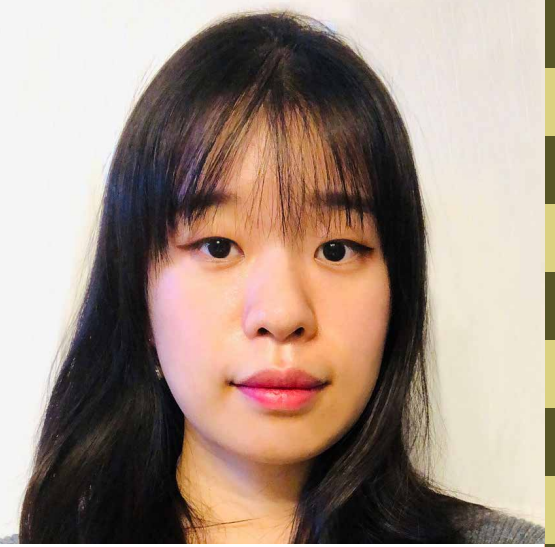

@alejandraoviedo

Lyssa Park

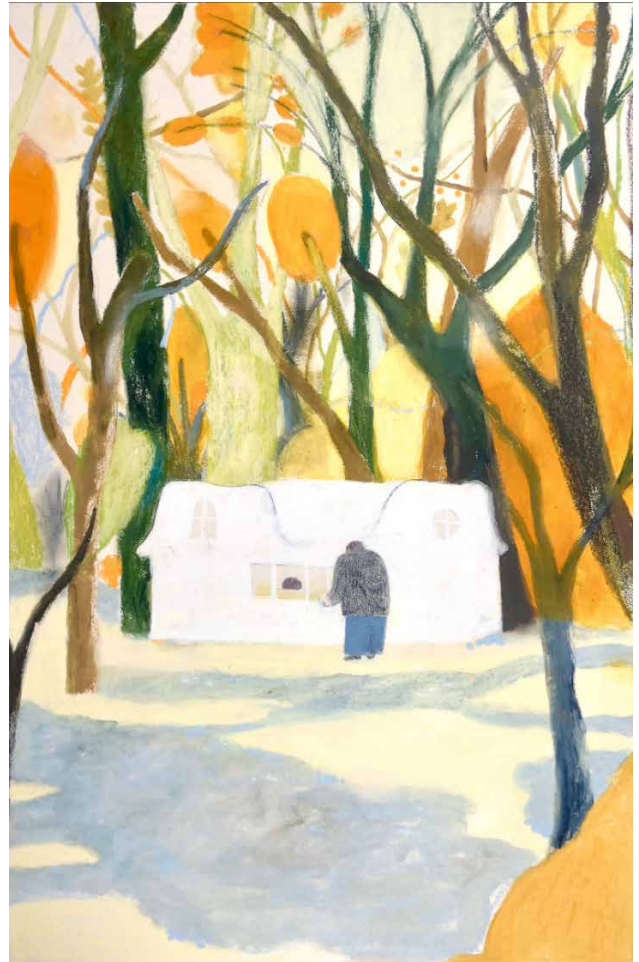

Lyssa Park explores narrative through illustration and comics using pen-and-ink, collage, digital, screen printing, and sculpture. Lyssa immigrated from South Korea as a child and graduated with a BFA in Illustration from CCA in San Francisco where she was awarded the Society of Illustrators Student Award. She lives and works in Las Vegas where she is currently pursuing her MFA.

“I’m interested in exploring alternative approaches to storytelling through experimentation with form, process, and materials.”

lizzamond.cargo.site

 @lizzamond

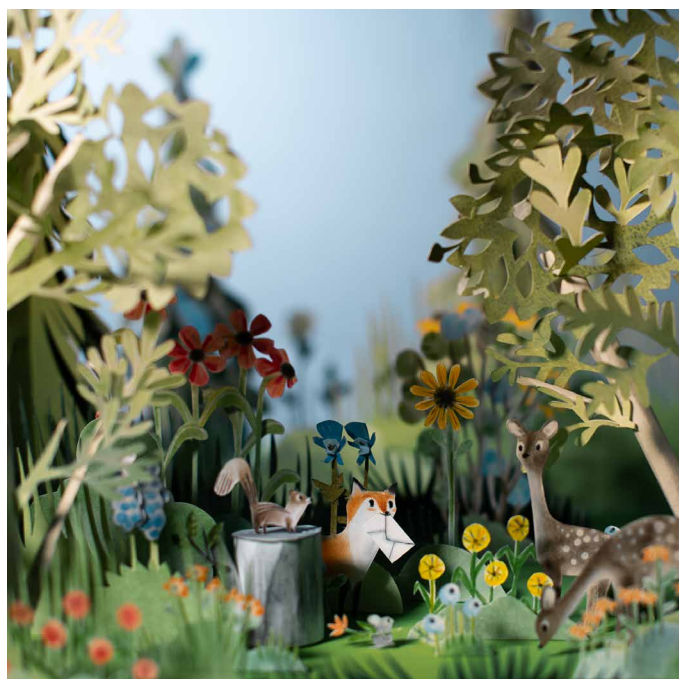

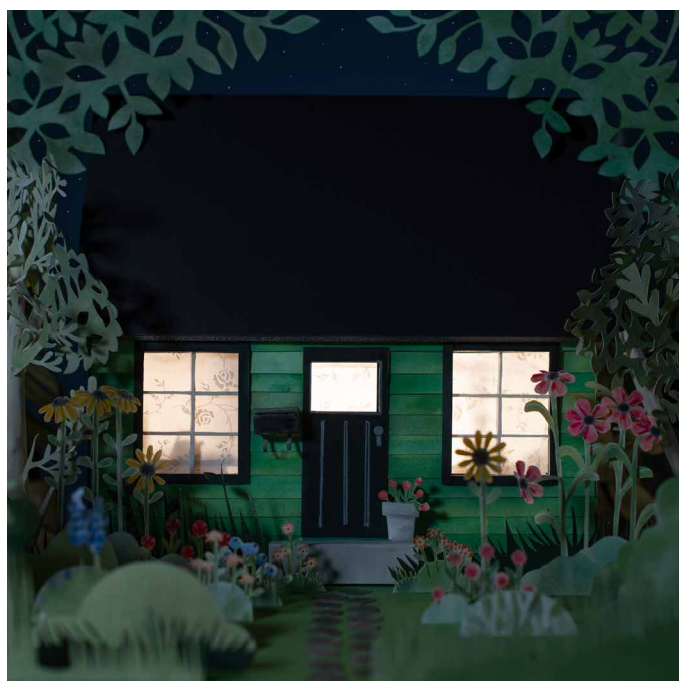

Kelly Pousette

Using paper-cut pieces and dioramas, Kelly's art often incorporates woodland critters and natural settings. School Library Journal called her illustrations in If You Were Night "Breathtaking," while Booklist said her illustrations for the middle-grade The Very, Very Far North "work in absolute harmony with the text...making this book even more endearing." Kelly resides in Northern British Columbia.

"I love natural settings and animals. I am keen to work on a wordless or novelty book."

 @kpousetteillustration

Susan Reagan

Illustration and the love of drawing have dominated Susan Reagan's life since she was a girl. Her picture books include, You & Me, Lights Out, and Revolutionary Prudence Wright. Susan loves her husband, walks and plays with her dogs, and illustrates in Tremont, a historical neighborhood of Cleveland, Ohio.

"Picture books and historical subjects are my focus though I would love to venture into chapter books should the right project come along!"

susanreaganart.com

@susan_reagan

Lorraine Rocha

Lorraine Rocha is an illustrator living in the Bay Area. She studied architecture, animation and illustration. Lorraine has worked in entertainment art for movies and video games, but her favorite way to tell stories with art is through illustration. Lorraine has illustrated When Grandma Gives You A Lemon Tree, When Grandpa Gives You A Toolbox, and Zebra On The Go.

“I would love to work on all kinds of projects, from picture books to early chapter books. I endeavor to support stories with detailed and funny, whimsical illustrations.”

lorrainerochaiillustration.com

@lorraine.rocha.art

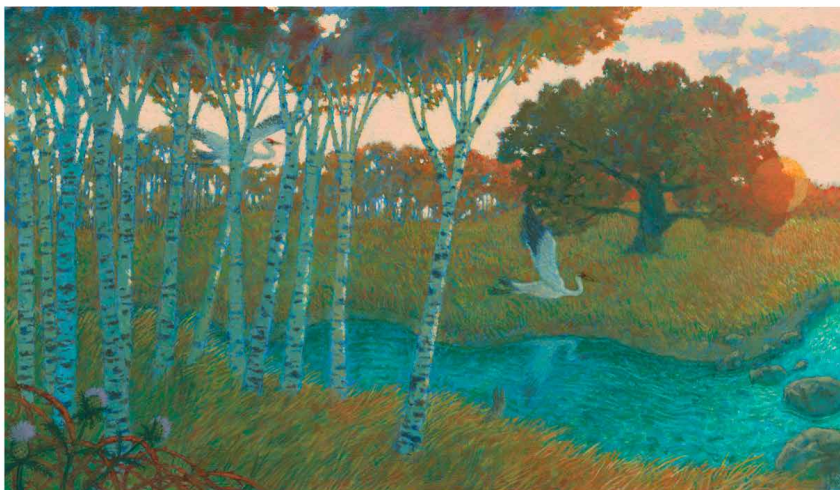

John Sandford

After seven years at Cricket Magazine, Sandford retired to focus on his own creative projects. He enjoys illustrating in a range of styles to suit the mood and flavor of the words. Sandford has garnered starred reviews from Publishers Weekly and School Library Journal, as well as CBC selections and a Parent's Choice Gold medal. His picture book Brindlefox is forthcoming from Worthy Books/Hachette. John lives in Chicago.

"I'm hoping to reimagine classic stories for a new audience."

sandfordarchive.com

Represented by Abigail Samoun: abigail@redfoxliterary.com

Stephanie Roth Sisson

Stephanie Roth Sisson both writes and illustrates to tell stories through various mediums, primarily digital. Curiosity and discovery drive her work. Her books, including Star Stuff and Spring After Spring have earned accolades, awards, and starred reviews. Steph travels all over the world and loves being in nature, soaking up beauty and looking for eye candy.

“I’d love to work on projects that feature animals. It would also be fun to do fantasy and fairy tales, as well as something for pre-schoolers that is simple and bold.”

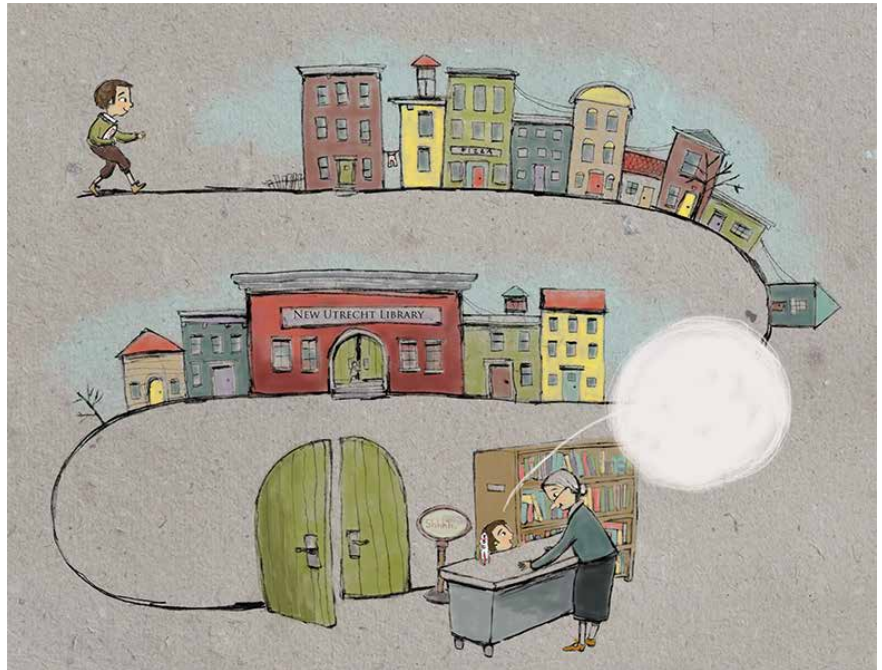

stephanitely.com

@stephanierothsisson

@Stephanitely1

Teri Sloat

Teri Sloat's Zip! Zoom! On A Broom was warmly praised by The Horn Book, which called the rhymes "bewitching" while Books to Borrow, Books to Buy called it, "a pure delight from start to finish." Among Teri's many honors are an ABA Pick of the List, a New York Times Best Picture Book, and a Notable Science Trade Book. Teri lives with her husband on a small farm in Sebastopol, California.

"I'd love to do a nature-oriented or environmentally themed story, particularly about birds."

terisloat.com

 @terisloat

Brad Sneed

Brad Sneed's books have earned honors from Dolly Parton's Imagination Library, the Society of Illustrators, the National Council of Social Studies, the International Reading Association – Children's Book Council, American Bookseller, Junior Library Guild, and appeared on numerous state book award lists. His latest title is Because I'm New.

"I love to draw and paint all manner of flora and fauna (including the human variety). Funny and whimsical subjects are right up my alley, but I'd never rule out a light-hearted educational series."

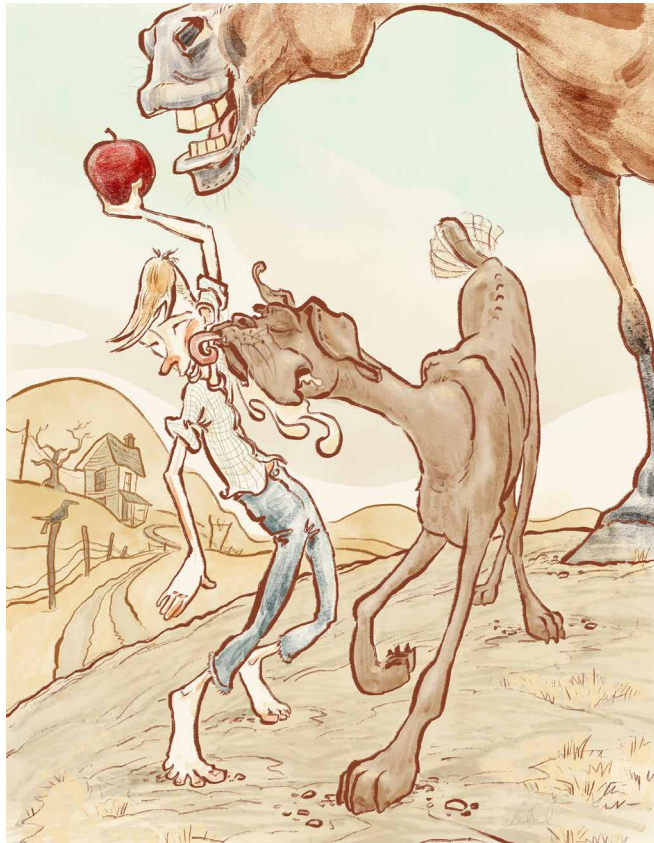

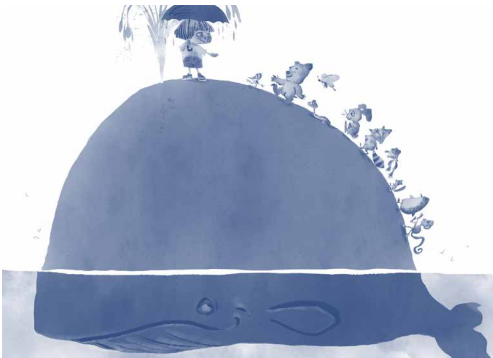

bradsneed.com

@bdsneed

@bradleysneed

Archana Sreenivasan

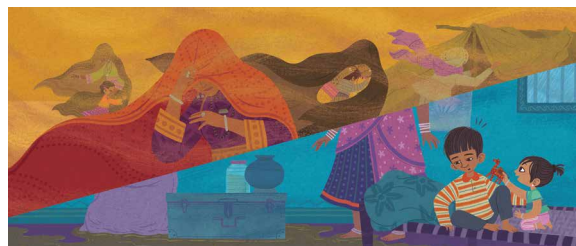

Archana Sreenivasan is an illustrator based in India. Her star-reviewed books include Desert Girl, Monsoon Boy by Tara Dairman, and the award-winning Seven Golden Rings by Rajani LaRocca. She has worked with Penguin, Simon & Schuster and Scholastic among others, and her art from Where Three Oceans Meet by Rajani LaRocca was exhibited in the Society of Illustrators Original Art Show, 2021.

“I love working on books that are about the natural world, animals, and intimate relationships. I also enjoy working on folk tales.”

archanasreenivasan.com

@archanasreenivasan

Melodie Stacey

Melodie is an artist and illustrator from East Sussex in the south of the UK. She has been working for the last twenty five years as a painter, diverting into textiles and other crafts such as weaving and doll making. The last few years she has been concentrating on illustration, and has recently finished her second picture book with Cameron kids, about the life of the designer and craftsman William Morris.

“My dream is to illustrate my own stories one day.”

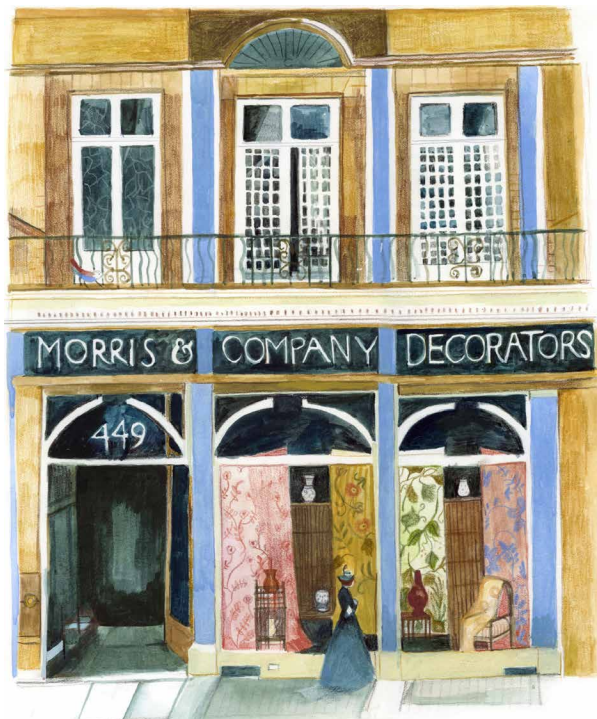

melodiastacey.bigcartel.com

@melodiastacey

@Melodiesstacey

Anden Wilder

Anden Wilder attended the Maryland Institute College of Art and graduated with a degree in painting and a Masters Degree in Educational Psychology and Early Childhood Literacy. She is a mentor for aspiring illustrators at SCBWI and is a professor of illustration at the Rocky Mountain College of Art and Design. Anden lives in Denver, CO with her husband and two children.

“I illustrate picture books and MG novels showing children at play, with animals, and with their families. I also love to illustrate anything about food. I like to experiment with texture, color, and light.”

andenwilder.com

@andenwilderillustration

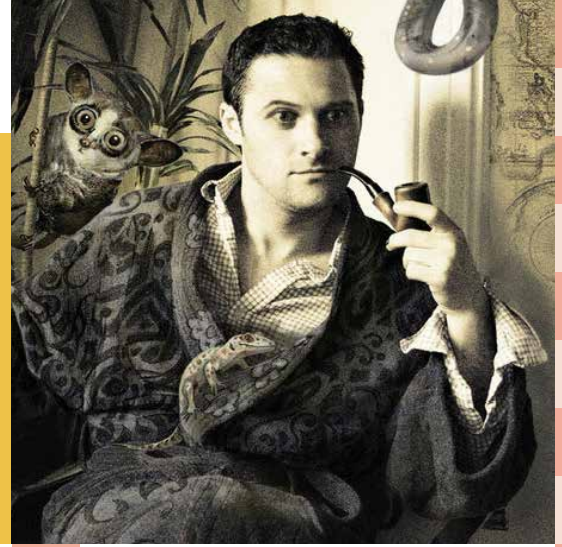

@andenwilder

Simon Winheld

Simon Winheld is an artist based out of Berkeley, California. His work has been featured in Heavy Metal Magazine and Reader's Digest, and he is the author and illustrator of the adult humor book Are You Dissing Me? What Animals Really Think. Simon is an actor as well, having received his MFA from The New School for Drama in New York City.

“I love projects centered around animal characters, either in their natural habitat or anthropomorphized in human environments and scenarios.”

simonwinheld.crevado.com

@simon_morris_winheld

@SimonWinheld

